DETAILED ACTION

Docketing

There has been a change in the Examiner prosecuting this case, please direct all communication to the phone number listed in the Conclusion section.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 9/13/2007 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see page 4, filed 9/13/2007, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-10 under 35 USC § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Altshuler(US Patent 5615266) in view of Mauro II(US Patent 7133696) have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of US Patent 7164755 to Yokoyama.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 7164755 to Yokoyama in view of US Patent 6671567 to Dwyer et al.(hereinafter Dwyer).

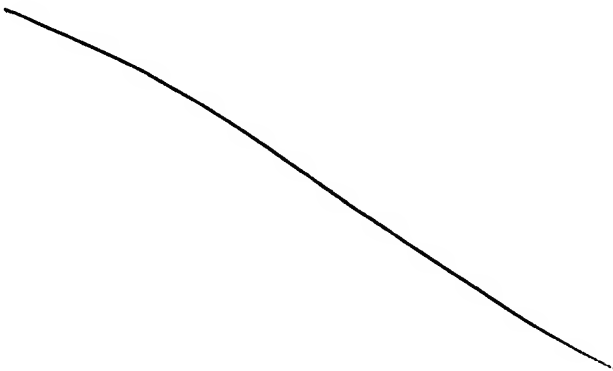

Regarding Claim 1, 9-10, Yokoyama discloses the storing a voice signal outputted from a vocoder of the wireless communication signal for a predetermined time see Fig. 1 item 12 & 2; selecting at least one of the signal values among which the occurrence of generation is lower than a threshold value to generate a token header data see Fig. 11 item S7; combining token header data of variable lengths to form a token header and generating a token including the token header, the token header data having the lowest occurrence of generation among voice data outputted from a vocoder of the wireless communication terminal see Fig. 2 item 210. But does not disclose the transmission terminal, receiving a request for a secure communication from a user and transmitting the token to a reception terminal and at the transmission terminal, entering into a secure communication mode based on an acknowledge token transmitted from the reception terminal, and performing secure communication with the reception terminal. However, Dwyer discloses the transmission terminal receiving a request for secure communication from a user and transmitting the token to a reception terminal and at the transmission terminal, entering into a secure communication mode based on an acknowledgement token transmitted from the reception terminal see Fig. 14 item 14 & 18 & Col 9 Ln 56-64. It would be obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include the transmission terminal receiving a request for secure communication from a user and transmitting the token to a reception terminal and at the transmission terminal, entering into a secure communication mode based on an acknowledgement token transmitted from the reception terminal in the invention of Yokoyama in order to have secure channel for communication between receiver and transmitter.

Regarding Claim 2-8, Yokoyama disclose the details of the header being included including keys, ID information and transmitting repeated times based on acknowledgement packet see Fig. 4 & Col 9 Ln 11-39 & Col 7 Ln 20-41.
